Bulletin of the School of Classical Studies at Athens American School of Classical Studies at Athens. To the Managing Committee of the American School of Classical Studies at Athens: Ladies and Gentlemen, I had the good fortune to be a Professor in the American School of Classical Studies at Athens during the year 1893-94, and should naturally now render to you an account of my years service. My work at Athens, however, was not such as to require a special report. All that it is necessary to say in regard to it has already been adequately said by my colleague, the Director of the School, in his Report for the year. But I am glad to avail myself of this opportunity to address the Committee in another way, and, at the close of my years residence at Athens in official connection with the School, to pass rapidly in review the first twelve years of its history, and to report to you briefly my present impressions about it. Such a review will, perhaps, come not inappropriately from one who had the honor to hold the chairmanship of this Committee during the years 1881-87.
